FEBRUARY, 1932

No. 1

Inauguration of President Anderson

Wesleyan College will be the scene on April 8th, of the largest and most colorful inaugural ceremonies ever witnessed in a woman's college in the South.

Representatives of colleges and universities in 31 states, official delegates of learned societies and academic organizations, trustees, benefactors, faculty, students and alumnae will form an impressive procession, resplendent in their academic robes, from Mulberry Street Methodist Church to the City Auditorium, where the formal inauguration of President Anderson will take place at eleven A. M.

THE PROCESSION

The procession will be headed by three marshals, Dr. S. L. Akers, chief marshal, Dr. Raleigh M. Drake, and Dr. George W. Gignilliat. Twenty-one Wesleyan students will serve as marshals along the procession. Representatives of the colleges will march in order of the age of their institution. The representative of William and Mary College, founded in 1693, will lead.

Presidents of 33 colleges have accepted invitations to walk in the procession in their academic robes. Ninety-three colleges have named delegates from their faculties or alumni. About 120 colleges will be represented in the procession.

The Wesleyan faculty and senior class will be robed. Official representatives of each alumnae class and each alumnae club have been designated to head the alumnae line. All alumnae are invited to form a part of the procession and to wear academic dress if desired. The student body will follow.

The entire Board of Trustees will participate. Twenty-three learned societies will be represented; the presidents of all patriotic, civic, and women's clubs of Macon, the Bibb County Board of Education, have been invited to take part. Seniors of Mercer University will act as ushers.

THE PROGRAM

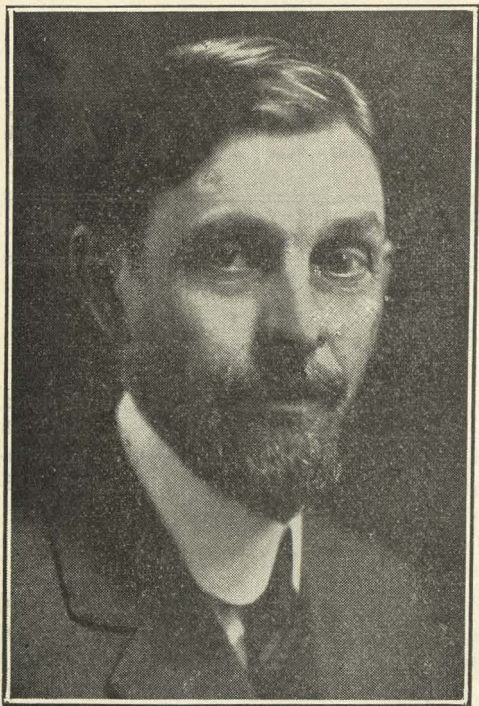

The general program will list by name and degree every representative of a college or organization present.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, chairman of the Board of Trustees, will preside at the exercises in the Auditorium.

President William Preston Few of Duke University, will make the leading address of the occasion. Dr. Few received his Ph.D. degree at Harvard University in English in 1896, and his LL.D. degree from Southwestern University in 1912. He is a frequent writer and speaker on educational and social questions. It was his vision over a long period of years which is largely responsible for the expansion of the historical Trinity College into the powerful Duke University of today. Dr. Few was formally inaugurated as president of Trinity College in 1912.

Dr. David A. Robertson, president of Goucher College, will bring greetings from the women's colleges of the country. Dr. Robertson is outstanding in the educational world as the author of "American Colleges and Universities" and of various articles on English literature and on higher education, as the official investigator of American colleges 1924-27 for the Association of American Universities, as president of the Beta chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, and as a member of important committees of the Association of American Universities.

Chancellor Charles M. Snelling of the University of Georgia system will bring greetings from the educational forces of Georgia.

Dean Leon P. Smith will voice greetings from Wesleyan College, Director Joseph Maerz from Wesleyan Conservatory, Alleen (Poer) Hinton, president of the National Wesleyan Alumnae Association, from the alumnae, and students from the College and the Conservatory from the Student Government Associations of these two institutions.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES OF THE INAUGURATION

Immediately following the service at the city auditorium, official academic delegates to the Inauguration will be taken to Wesleyan Conservatory for luncheon.

Mr. W. D. Anderson, chairman of the Building and Finance Committee of the Board of Trustees, will preside.

Mrs. Philip W. Harmer, President of the Southeastern Section, American Association of University Women, President Walter Hullahen of the University of Delaware, Superintendent W. A. Sutton, ex-president of the National Educational Association, President Harvey W. Cox of Emory University, President Guy N. Snavely of Birmingham-Southern, Executive Secretary of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States, and Professor W. D. Hooper, Chairman of the Commission on Higher Institutions of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, will be the speakers for this occasion.

THE GARDEN PARTY

In the afternoon, at five o'clock, a Garden Party will be given on the new Wesleyan campus at Rivoli, honoring the guests. All alumnae, students, members of the faculties of both the College and Conservatory, and friends of Wesleyan in the city are invited to be present for this Party. This will be one of the most delightful events of the Inauguration Day.

THE FORMAL DINNER

A formal dinner for the official academic delegates at Rivoli will be the feature of the evening on April 8. Dorothy (Blount) Lamar, first alumnae trustee of Wesleyan from Macon, will be toastmistress. A delightful program is being planned for the final occasion of the Inauguration.

ALUMNAE DAY

April 9, the day following the Inauguration, is known as "Alumnae Day". At this time, a special program throughout the day has been planned for the alumnae, with Alleen (Poer) Hinton, president, in charge.

Secretaries of alumnae classes, presidents of local clubs all over the state who will be present to represent their alumnae groups in the Inaugural procession on April 8, will remain as guests of the college for Alumnae Day.

The Alumnae Part in the Inauguration

The alumnae will have a prominent place in the Academic Procession from Mulberry Street Methodist Church to the City Auditorium for Dr. Anderson's Inauguration on the morning of April 8.

The Alumnae Association expects to honor Dr. Anderson with 1000 representatives in the Procession. Among the official delegates will be the officers of the National Alumnae Association, the Secretaries of classes and the Presidents of local clubs. All other alumnae who can be present are invited to take part in the Procession.

ACADEMIC DRESS

It will be quite proper, though not absolutely necessary, for all alumnae to appear in academic dress. If you do not have one, it may be that you can secure one in your vicinity from some friend. Wesleyan owns a limited supply of hoods which will be rented to those alumnae who first request them by writing to The Wesleyan Book Store.

If you do not have a degree, it is customary to wear the Oxford gown and cap such as is specified for the bachelor's degree, except without the hood.

Graduates wear the cap and gown, plus a hood which hangs down the back and is lined with silk in the colors of the college where the degree was received. The Wesleyan hoods are lined with soft shades of lavender and purple. The velvet edging of the hood signifies the field in which the degree was taken, white for the arts, yellow for science, pink for music, etc.

Masters' and Doctors' gowns and hoods are more elaborate, and are trimmed, in many cases, with brilliant red hues.

The assembly of academists, as you can easily imagine, will be a most colorful occasion!

NO LUNCH

Much to the regret of Wesleyan, due to the limited space in the Wesleyan Conservatory dining room and to the large number of official delegates from out-of-town who are expected for the Inauguration, it will be impossible to entertain the alumnae for lunch on April 8. There are a number of very good tea rooms, cafeterias, hotels, and drug stores in the city, however, where the alumnae may secure lunch for any price, from 25 cents up.

GARDEN PARTY

For the Garden Party, however, there is no such restriction! The campus is large enough to hold all of our guests, and the students make charming hostesses. Alumnae and their friends are cordially invited to the Garden Party at 4:00 P. M., and Wesleyan expects a record attendance for this occasion.

DINNER

While the formal dinner for official guests is being held at Rivoli, alumnae guests will be entertained in the dining room at Wesleyan Conservatory in the city. A special program is being planned for this dinner.

Out-of-town alumnae are invited to be guests in the conservatory dormitories for the night.

Special Program For Alumnae

FRIDAY, 8:00 P. M.—“Sun-up” by the Wesleyan Dramatic Club in the chapel at the Conservatory.
This play recently given so successfully at Rivoli is repeated at this time by request.

SATURDAY, 10:00 A. M. to 1:00 P. M.—Lectures at Wesleyan Conservatory.

The following prominent delegates who will be present for the Inauguration have been invited to speak to the Alumnae during these hours:

DR. W. K. GREENE, Dean of Curriculum, Duke University, and formerly one of the most popular members of the Wesleyan faculty.

DR. ALFRED ALLEN KERN, professor of English, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Virginia.

DR. META GLASS, president of Sweetbriar College, Virginia, the only woman college president in attendance.

DR. E. M. STIGERS, representative of William Jewell College, and educational director of the Federal Penitentiary in Atlanta, on “Educational Methods in Penal Institutions.”

DR. R. C. RHODES, representative of the University of California, and professor of science at Emory University.

DEAN GOODRICH WHITE of Emory University, one of Atlanta's most popular speakers on Child Psychology.

There will be no afternoon session.

Alumnae Teachers Coming to G. E. A.

The annual Wesleyan Luncheon for alumnae teachers who come to Macon for the G. E. A., will be held at the Hotel Lanier on Friday, April 19, at 1:00 o'clock.

Annabel Horn, head of the department of Latin at Girls' High School in Atlanta and vice-President in charge of secondary school relations of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association, will talk. Alumnae who have attended these luncheons before know her to be a witty and interesting speaker.

The price of the luncheon will be seventy-five cents. Notice the supplement sheet in the front of this magazine and return this if you wish us to reserve a place for you at the luncheon.

For High School Seniors!

"Dormitory Day" for high school seniors is the newest thing at Wesleyan College!

On April 23, Saturday, Wesleyan girls will welcome high school girls who are interested in seeing for themselves what college life is like to the "Oldest and Best" for the weekend.

The high school girls will spend a day and night in the new dormitories with the students, will have their meals in the college dining hall, will sleep in "Freshman Hall" as if they were already members of the youngest class, and will see the college in an informal, everyday way, just as it is to the college girl.

As a "special feature" of the type that the college girls like best, the Athletic Association is planning a supper in the campus woods. At the "Woodland Kitchen," equipped by the Athletic Association in the fall, they will cook weiners or steaks and toast marshmallows.

The swimming pool, the tennis courts, the golf course, the horses, will all be ready for them to use. Some of the students will show their high school guests what they have learned in tap dancing classes and in archery.

The freshmen-for-a-day may see for themselves what the Wesleyan Library has to offer in the way of books for reference reading and for recreational reading. They may wander about the main reading room, the mezzanine and first-floor reading rooms, the Georgia room, the stacks where parallel books are kept.

They will meet the president, the most popular person on the campus, of whom the students sang at the last chapel gathering just before they went home for the spring holidays:

"Once 'D' we thought never meant anything nice,

But that was before we knew 'D' was for 'Dice'!"

They will meet the dean, the professors, and will see the classrooms and laboratories where they may some day be taking notes and making experiments.

They will join the students in a regular college "bull session" before light bell at night.

Surely there is no better way of telling the high school girl about Wesleyan than by showing her!

TO ALUMNAE:—Why not bring a car or several cars full of high school girls who are thinking of going to college to Wesleyan for this occasion? Several Alumnae clubs have done it.

PLANS FOR EUROPE THIS SUMMER

EDUCATIONAL TOURS

TOURS through the Old World, planned to fully realize the exceptional educational and cultural values of travel, are offered by the Intercollegiate Travel Extension Service of the American Express Company. They include the major artistic, scientific and social problems of vital interest to modern men and women. An educational director, an authority in his field, will accompany each tour. On some of these tours it is possible to gain academic credit, which makes them of especial value to teachers and students.

The appeal of these tours is by no means limited; all are welcome who are interested in the purpose and aims of these unusual travel offerings. Here is an opportunity long awaited by alumni, advanced students and all intelligent travelers—a pleasant summer in Europe combined with intellectual and esthetic pleasures and benefits.
